Accessing the Internet at Duke

There are three options for visitors who wish to use Duke’s network.

1) Visitor Network. This Wi-Fi network is available wherever Duke Wi-Fi is found. Connect to the network “DukeVisitor.” Your computer or device will be automatically disconnected after a period of inactivity, but it just can reconnect again.

2) Eduroam. If your home educational institution is a member of the Eduroam consortium, you can log into Duke’s “Eduroam” Wi-Fi network using your ID and password from your home institution. You should prepare your computer for use with Eduroam before you leave your home institution by joining the Eduroam network there. More information can be found at: http://eduroam.org.

3) Guest NetID. If warranted, a Duke faculty or staff member can sponsor a guest NetID for a limited period of time. This will allow you to access the Dukeblue Wi-Fi network (http://dukeblue.duke.edu). The sponsorship process is documented on the OIT website: https://accounts.oit.duke.edu/sponsor.

Academic Technologies, Duke Law School
helpdesk@law.duke.edu, 919-613-7072
Updated Aug 23, 2017