Selected International Opportunities

International Finance Corporation – Hong Kong, Beijing, Istanbul, Mumbai
The International Finance Corporation (IFC) is an international financial institution owned by 186 member countries and is part of the World Bank Group. Our mission is to seek to decrease poverty in the developing world. IFC’s 186 shareholder nations are each nations committed to development through investing in the private sector. In the IFC Istanbul, Hong Kong, Mumbai or Beijing offices, the intern’s work would focus primarily on investments and projects by IFC (mainly loans and equity investments by IFC) to private companies located in countries in the specific region.

How to apply: Please submit your cover letter and resume, the desired location and possible sources of funding (please consult with Dean Bart if unsure) to the attention of Katie Meighan, Head, Knowledge Management at International Finance Corporation (kmeighan@ifc.org) NO LATER THAN November 30, 2014. Please send copies of your materials to kobelev@law.duke.edu.

Mubadala Development Company – Abu Dhabi, UAE
Mubadala Development Company (MDC) is a major sovereign wealth fund with over $55 billion dollars under management across 90 holding companies around the globe. The legal department of MDC is seeking a first- or second-year law student to work on a broad range of transactional matters, including M&A, compliance, risk mitigation, and corporate governance issues. Compensation includes round-trip airfare, accommodation and a modest living stipend. The intern will be supervised by Christopher Fazekas (JD’04), Senior Legal Counsel at the company

How to apply: Please submit your cover letter, resume, and unofficial transcript to kobelev@law.duke.edu NO LATER THAN December 5, 2014. Students with Arabic language skills, demonstrated interest in corporate/transactional work and international experience will have a distinct advantage.

Development Law Service of the Food and Agriculture Organization, Rome, Italy
The Food and Agriculture Organization (FAO) is the U.N. agency with common action on food and agriculture. Within FAO, the Development Law Service (LEGN) is responsible for advising member governments on legal aspects of development and for providing legal research and documentation relating to subjects such as land, water, fisheries, plants, animals, food, forestry, wildlife, and national parks, and biodiversity. The advice usually takes the form of multi-disciplinary assessments of national laws and policies, including analyzing a country's needs in particular sub-sector (eg forestry or plant protection) to drafting new legislation.

How to apply: Duke Law School has been invited by the FAO to recommend up to two students to work 10 -12 weeks as summer interns in 2014. Please submit a cover letter addressed to the organization (to the attention of Blaise Kuemlangan, Chief, Development Law Service, FAO Legal Office), together with a one-page statement of interest and a resume to kobelev@law.duke.edu NO LATER THAN December 14, 2014. Selected students' application and materials will be referred to our contacts at FAO with Duke Law's recommendation for an offer of summer internship. Although FAO will give special consideration to the pre-selected candidates, the final selection will remain its prerogative.
The Hong Kong Arbitration Centre, Hong Kong, China
The Hong Kong Arbitration Centre (HKIAC) is one of the leading arbitration dispute platforms in Asia. The HKIAC administers arbitrations and other dispute resolution activities, including mediation and adjudication. The HKIAC manages these activities through the Centre's Secretary General, the chief executive and registrar.

How to apply: Duke Law School has been invited by HKIAC to recommend up to two students. Please submit a cover letter addressed to the organization (to the attention of Katherine Cavanaugh), together with a one-page statement of interest and a resume to Kobelev@law.duke.edu NO LATER THAN December 14, 2014. Selected students' application and materials will be referred to Ms. Bao along with Duke Law's recommendation for an offer of summer internship. Although HKIAC will give special consideration to the pre-selected candidates, the final selection will remain its prerogative.

Irish Centre for Human Rights (ICHR), Galway, Ireland
The Irish Centre for Human Rights is one of the world’s premier university-based institutions for the study and promotion of human rights and humanitarian law. Created in 2000, the Centre has developed a global reputation for excellence in human rights teaching, research, and advocacy. The Centre is looking for motivated Duke Law interns to assist its members. Please note that this is academic research-oriented internship. In the past, student interns have assisted Centre staff members with research on projects that include human rights in China, post-conflict criminal justice, the death penalty, and human rights violations in Burma/Myanmar.

How to apply: Duke Law School has been invited by ICHR to recommend up to two students to work 6-10 weeks as summer interns in 2014. Please submit a cover letter addressed to the organization (to the attention of Chiann Bao, the Secretary-General), together with a one-page statement of interest and a resume to Kobelev@law.duke.edu NO LATER THAN January 9, 2015. Selected students' application and materials will be referred to our contacts at ICHR with Duke Law's recommendation for an offer of summer internship. Although ICHR will give special consideration to the pre-selected candidates, the final selection will remain its prerogative.

Centre for Applied Legal Studies, Johannesburg, South Africa
The Centre for Applied Legal Studies (CALS) is a leading human rights centre based at the University of the Witwatersrand’s School of Law in Johannesburg, South Africa. CALS was a pioneer in the advancement of human rights in South Africa during the apartheid years. During the era of political negotiations, CALS entered a new phase in which its members a central role in the writing of the new constitution. During this time, the work of CALS is divided into several research programmes focusing on key areas of human rights and issues of implementation and enforcement of those rights. CALS has five programmes operating - Basic Services, Education, Environment, Gender and the Rule of Law. In each of these programmes it engages in a combination of research, advocacy activities and strategic litigation where necessary, in order to ensure sustainable justice for all those who live in South Africa. The internship runs from mid-May to mid-August and is typically between 6 and 10 weeks.

How to apply: Please send an email and your resume and cover letter to Lisa Chamberlain at lisa.chamberlain@wits.ac.za. Deadline to apply is February 15, 2014

See http://www.wits.ac.za/academic/clm/law/cals/11181/aboutcals.html for more information.

International Fund for Agricultural Development, Rome, Italy
The International Fund for Agricultural Development (IFAD), a specialized agency of the United Nations, was established as an international financial institution in 1977 as one of the major outcomes of the 1974 World Food Conference. IFAD is dedicated to eradicating rural poverty in developing countries. IFAD accepts 25 interns each year. Law students will be accepted depending on the needs of the departments. Internship assignments will be limited to a period of 6 months. IFAD provides interns without other funding $600 per month for living expenses.

How to apply: Duke Law School has been invited by the IFAD to recommend up to two students to work 6-to-10 weeks as summer interns in 2014. Please submit a cover letter addressed to the organization (to the attention of Ana Fernandez-Rodriguez), together with a one-page statement of interest and a resume to Kobelev@law.duke.edu NO LATER THAN February 15, 2015. Selected students' application and materials will be referred to our contacts at FAO with Duke Law's recommendation for an offer of summer internship. Although IFAD will give special consideration to the pre-selected candidates, the final selection will remain its prerogative.
Duke Specific Research Tools

1. Duke Law’s Searchable Database of International Opportunities

Duke Law School maintains a comprehensive list of 300+ international organizations which offer internships, fellowships, and permanent jobs opportunities to U.S. law students. The database is key-word searchable and sortable, allowing students to search by geographic region, substantive legal field, presence of Duke alumni, and other criteria. The database is available at: https://law.duke.edu/career/students/llm/internships/ and requires the input of NetID and password.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Positions available</th>
<th>Type of Resource</th>
<th>Name</th>
<th>Location</th>
<th>Description</th>
<th>Field</th>
<th>Duke Alumni</th>
<th>Notes</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Fellowships</td>
<td>NGO</td>
<td>Insight Collaborative</td>
<td>Worldwide</td>
<td>Each year, the Insight Collaborative Fellowship Program selects a group of exceptional fellows dedicated to making a positive difference in the world, and provides them with an opportunity to turn their passion and determination into action. Insight Collaborative fundamentally changes the way people deal with conflict, develop working relationships, communicate, and problem solve. Impact varies by project and ranges from an increase in resolved disputes, to more effective problem solving, to an improved ability of partner organizations to fulfill their mission. Website: www.insightcollaborative.org/ic_2009/fellowship_about.php</td>
<td>Alternative Dispute Resolution</td>
<td>No</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Internships, Jobs</td>
<td>NGO</td>
<td>The Hague Conference on Private International Law</td>
<td>Hague, Netherlands</td>
<td>The Permanent Bureau of the Hague Conference on Private International Law seeks interns who, in the context of their degree studies or their doctoral research, wish to deepen their knowledge of private international law, understand how the Conference functions and provide assistance in the work of the institution. Website: www.ichcm.net/index_en.php?act=vacanciess_details&amp;vid=4</td>
<td>Comparative law</td>
<td>No</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Internships, Fellowships</td>
<td>Academic</td>
<td>British Institute of International and Comparative Law</td>
<td>London, UK</td>
<td>BIIC advances understanding of international and comparative law, promotes the rule of law in international affairs and conducts independent research. The Institute is ideally placed for law students and recent graduates to gain greater insights into the fields of international and comparative law, offering an outstanding and highly-regarded legal and academic</td>
<td>Comparative law</td>
<td>No</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

2. International Opportunities Listserv

To receive the latest updates about current international opportunities, please subscribe to the International Opportunities Listserv by going to: https://lists.law.duke.edu/sympa/subscribe/international_opportunities_law

Please note that in addition to receiving ongoing emails, you should be able to see listserv archives, which will contain additional useful information.