

Rethinking Regulation and Reform: Behavioral Economics and the Regulatory State

Friday, April 11, 2014

8:15 a.m.-5:15 p.m., Hock Auditorium, Hock Plaza, Durham

PRESENTED BY:

Law & Economics Society

Duke Center for Interdisciplinary
Decision Science (D-CIDES)

Free
Conference
Registration
Required

Keynote: Eric Johnson, PhD
Columbia University

Thursday, April 10, 5 p.m.
Geneen Auditorium, Fuqua School of Business

This 5th annual Triangle Law & Economics Conference will address issues at the intersection of behavioral economics and law, focusing on the applications of decision science, choice architecture, and nudging to law, regulation and policy. Featuring panels on topics including behavioral finance, health, fraud and corruption, tax salience, energy and climate change, and rethinking behavior-ism.